Continuous-Time Generative Models: A Survey
Grace Lee
arXiv, 2026

Abstract: A survey of continuous-time generative models, comparing flow matching, diffusion and drifting across training and inference costs.

Continuous-time models trade training complexity for sampling efficiency.

We compare flow matching, diffusion and training-time drifting.

References

[1] Smith, A., Jones, B. (2026). Flow Matching for Language Generation. Journal of Synthetic Tests. https://doi.org/10.1234/flowlm.2026
[2] White, C., Brown, D. (2026). Training-Time Drift for Generative Modeling. arXiv:2601.01234.
[3] Green, E., Black, F. (2025). Discrete Diffusion Language Models. NeurIPS 2025.